O'Connell Profiled In University of Dayton Magazine

Voice Talent's Current Professional Successes Tied to First Radio Gig at UD Radio Station

DAYTON, OH, January 2, 2017 - - There was one reason Peter K. O'Connell wanted to attend the University of Dayton when he enrolled in 1982. The school owned a 50,000-watt FM commercial radio station and a select few students filled the on-air disc jockeys slots. O'Connell found himself working a regular on-air shift at WVUD-FM in only his freshman year; a voice talent was born.

Thirty years later, having voiced hundreds of commercials and narrations since graduating from UD, O'Connell got to share his gratitude for the University when he was profiled recently in the school's award winning University of Dayton Magazine. As well as featuring his professional accomplishments, the article noted his family's recent move from Buffalo, NY to Raleigh, NC.

About The University of Dayton

The University of Dayton is a top-tier Catholic research-university with academic offerings from the undergraduate to the doctoral levels. The University of Dayton includes a diverse community committed, in the Marianist tradition, to educating the whole person and linking learning and scholarship with leadership and service.
