

BIOGRAPHY

As a high school student, Peter K. O'Connell garnered strange looks from his parents as they passed by his room. There, he would brush up on his youthful announcing skills by reading magazine ad copy...out loud. While they might have expected some blaring rock & roll, Peter's parents instead got a young Don Pardo.

Peter has been a professional voiceover talent since 1982, when he began in radio in Dayton, OH as a top rated disc jockey and commercial producer. Today, as America's friendly, neighborhood voiceover talent, Peter's versatile voice talents let him work with valued clients who range from Fortune 500 Companies to companies who think $500 is a fortune!

A natural born storyteller, some of Peter's global commercial, narration and broadcast promo voice-over clients include Kraft, PBS, the Massachusetts Lottery, Papa John's Pizza, Duracell Batteries, Bacardi Rum, L.L.Bean, IBM, U.S. Army, and BlueCross BlueShield.

Peter produces his voice projects through his company, audio'connell Voiceover Talent -- a division of O'Connell Communications, LLC. His voice-over studio is headquartered in Cary, North Carolina (just outside of Raleigh), where Peter lives with his wife and children.