

audio'connell Voiceover Talent Serves Media Producers with Launch of Web Exclusive for Top Female Voice Talents

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA – March 3, 2025 - Media producers often face a familiar challenge: finding the right professional voice quickly and confidently. To help solve that problem, audio'connell Voiceover Talent has launched a new section on its website, femalevoicetalents.com, now accessible through audioconnell.com — the main voiceover website for narrator and voice actor Peter K. O'Connell.

The new online resource features curated demos and direct contact details for top female voice talents from across the U.S. and around the world. Each profile includes three female voiceover demos which can include commercial, narration, telephony, radio imaging, explainer video, e-learning, and character voice, giving producers fast access to voices suited for a wide range of media projects.

O'Connell said the addition supports what many producers already rely on him for: helping them find the right talent, not just perform the work himself.

“Producers frequently ask me for recommendations, and I want to make that process as easy and helpful as possible,” O'Connell said. “These are female voice actors I've known and trusted for years. Adding them to the site reinforces that I'm here to guide producers — not only as a voiceover performer, but also as a voiceover producer.”

By offering vetted, professional female voice options directly on audioconnell.com, O'Connell gives media teams a clear, simple plan: listen to demos, connect with talent, and move their project forward with confidence.
